Trade Negotiators Return to Seattle to Push Their Free Trade Agenda,
and the People Rise Up Once Again!

We Demand a New FAIR TRADE Model, or it's NO to the KOREA-US Pact

This week, trade negotiators from the United States and South Korea will hold the third round of negotiations for the Korea-US (KORUS) Free Trade Agreement. By all indications, the KORUS FTA will be little more than a carbon copy of past trade agreements, such as NAFTA, that mean weak protections for workers' rights and the environment, undermining of public services and strong protections for multinational corporate investment and profits.

We do not have a seat at the negotiating table,
so we must make our voices heard from the streets!
